Variation. The Nose P Salter, T Rennison 1906 – the first HVS in Borrowdale.
"The stiffest problem is the Nose, at the top of North Gully. It has only been done by one party, about 8 years ago, Percy Salter and the late Tom Rennison. Being more difficult than the Pillar Nose direct, with very minute and insecure holds, almost as hazardous for follower as for leader. A second ascent is not recommended."

430 FIRST ASCENTS

- 2000 June 17 The Ego Has Landed J McHaffie, S Wood
An outstanding lead, after minimal top-rope inspection, and a possible contender for the most serious climb in the Lakes. "The biggest lead in the Lakes. You're going to die all the way".
Adam Hocking, having top-roped the line shortly after the first ascent.
- 2000 July 6 The Restraint of Beasts W Hunter, C Downer
The name was chosen in memory of the late Chris Bacon who made many contributions to Borrowdale climbing and was a fencing contractor by profession.
- 2000 July 22 Wasp C Read, G L Swainbank
Pitch 4 was originally climbed as a variation to Troutdale Pinnacle Superdirect by P Ross, E Rosher 15 May 1959.
